

Statement: Death of Student Tyler Clementi
By President Richard L. McCormick,
Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey

The Rutgers University community is in mourning over the death of first-year student Tyler Clementi. We grieve for him and for his family, friends and classmates as they deal with the tragic loss of a gifted young man who was a strong student and a highly accomplished musician. I have spoken with Tyler's parents to extend my own and the university's deepest sympathies, and we will continue to respect the family's request for privacy. It is up to us at Rutgers to honor this young man's life by reaffirming, and living up to, our commitment to the values of civility, dignity, compassion, and respect for one another.
